Darryl Lacy was cited for his Five year success as founder and producer of DL Productions during a benefit on March 24, 1992 at the Weill Recital Hall of Carnegie Hall, home of the world's greatest performers.

Darryl established DL Productions in 1987 and has directed and produced nine plays since its inception, including the critically acclaimed, "Nikki G: A Portrait of Nikki Giovanni in Her Own Words", which he wrote.

"He is a bright and shining star", remarks Ann Thompson Sretching, Chief Advisory Officer at Johnson Preparatory School (JPS), a 20-year old Afrocentric preschool and elementary school in Brooklyn.

Ms. Thompson-Sretching, who recommended Darryl for this prestigious acknowledgement, was also responsible for his receiving the JPS "Special Achievement In The Arts" award in 1991.
